Heddy Mills

We are a family of four. My husband, Stanley, and I met in Argentina in 1986 when he was there on a basketball contract and I was his interpreter. Two years later I came to New York as an international student to work on my Masters. In 1990, we got married and have lived happily ever after. We have two children, Melody and Emmanuel, who are both attending school and living at home. We all really enjoy travelling and meeting people. Melody and I especially have a passion for language and cultures. Stanley has been a Personal Fitness Trainer at the YMCA for the past 12 years, and I am an educator now doing consulting work. This allows for a lot of time at home and a very flexible schedule. In 1999, we were blessed to be able to buy a beautiful limestone house in Bay Ridge, a very safe and diverse neighborhood of Brooklyn. Our house has three floors with some original detail and some new renovations. We have a backyard where we spend time gardening and entertaining. I love to cook and we all enjoy eating. We do our best to have dinner together every night to catch up with daily activities. We are very excited about meeting people from various parts of the world.
